40%

of organizations give their employees up to 10 benefits point solutions.

50%

of employees are unaware of the benefits available to them.

60%

of employees say they don't have time to use their benefits.

Offering multiple benefits is great but if they don't work for your team — or your organization — they could cost you in more ways than one.
